We believe education will play a significant role in accomplishing future productivity, economic goals, and higher standards of living throughout the world. In this age of global competitiveness, employment opportunities will demand increasing skills; thus higher & Professional education issues will receive high priority throughout the world. It has been obvious to us for a good many years that the traditional educational system cannot keep pace with a rapidly evolving scientific technology and system since it riddled with inflexibility and bureaucratic lethargy. Any country that wishes to compete in today's market place must be equipped with highly educated and skilled work force. We, of the Dr. C.V.Raman University are committed to offer a high degree of flexibility and calibre in disseminating higher education to our students and will endeavor to blend to the best of academic rigor and pragmatic applications that will contribute to the success of our graduates in the work place. Each student's program of study will be individually customized to ensure that his/her educational objectives will be achieved in the shortest allowable period.

Our study programs have been developed to respond to the academic needs of the adult learner in the work place. The University consistently strives to provide an education that leads to degrees relevant to today's work place in a global setting, yet competitive in today's academic market place. We are committed to meet the needs of our students in an innovative and flexible curricula, excellence, effectiveness, academic rigor and personalized services
